HOUSES AT AMALFI CLING LIKE VINES TO SIDE OF MOUNTAIN.

A STREET OF STONE STEPS

It Would Be an Ideal Place for an American Crook to Make Escape—A Boat Ride in Blue Grotto.

Kaiser's Pension Aurora, Florence, Italy, July 31.—Have indeed tried, but simply couldn't get started on a letter sooner. Mr. Watson has let us all off for a rest this afternoon. We have a few hours, then will take one of the carriage rides around the city.

I think I left my narrative at Amalfi, the convent hotel. The night we were there a crowd of us went down to the little fishing village to the religious carnival. They had fine lights and an excellent band, and everybody applauded the classic selections. These Italian crowds insist on encores. It was the quaintest place I have seen in this country, the town built in this crevice with houses many stories high or perched on the rocks, and streets like little tunnels, mostly steps, scrambling through them. The market place was down two stories below the driving road and there were other lower streets. If good and lively American crooks had such a place they never could be caught.

Most picturesque barefoot peasants sat on the town hall steps till almost midnight listening to the band play Greig and other like music. The rugged hill tops back from the sea had monasteries on top of each, and from the little valley of the town Amalfi (not one just described above) houses clung to the whole mountain side and were reached by a street of solid steps. We didn't go up that one.

The village Amalfi at the foot of our hotel also had tunnel streets with many steps, black as pitch at night and dim even at noonday with houses built solidly across the top. One real central street led through the town and these bored into the walls from it.

We started the next morning at 6 and had a fine ride to Sorrento, along the sea as before. Sorrento is a great silk manufacturing town. We stayed at a very fine hotel, beautiful parlors and dining room, like an art gallery for height and whiteness of walls. They used bamboo in tubs just as we have palms. It is so feathery and pretty we all decided to cultivate it at home.

Our hotel pergola and gardens were lovely also. Many fine villas were safely stowed away behind high stone walls on either side the streets, so nothing but trees were visible. This gave the residence streets the effect of topless tunnels and was rather uninteresting.

We left next day for Isle of Capri and blue grotto. The boat onto which our small boats launched us was not large, and as the sea was a little rough we felt peculiar soon, and after the trip into the grotto most of the party reclined on deck or over rail.

We sailed up the rocky side of the Isle and paused in a multitude of small boats before a tiny black hole in the rocks at the water's edge. I said, "Excuse me. I will never risk getting in and out of that rat hole." But the rolling of the big boat worried me, so I decided to take a ride in the small skiffs. We went in twos, in rather large row boats, with one oarsman to each boat, and covered the surface of the sea with our numbers. The swell was quite heavy and wind considerable—apparently a foolish attempt, as they had not been able to get in for three days. But the fates are kind to some foolish ones and have favored this party all the time, so we rowed up to the hole, where a strong chain stretched through, fastened firmly at each end on the rocks. The occupants of the boat lay down flat. You wait till the swell takes you up, then recedes and leaves the opening at its largest dimensions, the boatman grasps the chain and pulls the boat through. The waves dash happily over you, leaving you wet and uncomfortable but greatly pleased with your own courage.

The blue grotto is quite a large cave, which has a floor of electric blue sea. The reflections on the roof near the opening are very pretty, and the blackness of the oars or anything under the surface accentuates the color, while the foam made by striking on the surface is lovely light blue diamonds.

We got out by the same process we used entering, and were held up on high seas for the fee before they would take us to our ship. We didn't have money enough, so had quite a little sail around until we could get Mr. Watson, the secretary and manager of our party. Returning on board, everybody whoever indulges in that luxury got sick. I had a small attack myself. We returned to Capri and were attacked by a mob of peasant women trying to sell us corals cheap. I bought a ten-cent string in self-defense, then dangled it at everyone who came after. We went up a high mountain by cog to a little village and a nice hotel, where an excellent lunch in the pergola awaited us. A talented young boy and father played mandolin and guitar for our entertainment, so we soon forgot our ills, and the boat trip on to Naples was calm and beautiful. Everybody came away decorated with corals. It is too funny. After each place the whole crowd wears decorations. From Rome all brought Roman pearl beads.

We began meeting American parties as soon as we entered Italy, some of them larger than ours. Here at Florence the principal language of the art galleries and other sights is American. There are nine young Cornell men, architects, at this pension, under management of the university traveling department. There are seventy-two in the city under that management and lectures are given by different professors on their particular subject. It must be very educational, but a little tiresome also, I should judge.

I met a Delta Gamma at the art gallery this morning who is from Northwestern university at Evanston, but is at Illinois university this year. She was back at initiation and met Ruth Montgomery. A delightful girl is at another hotel and going south tomorrow. Have also seen some D. A. R.'s, but generally when I didn't have my mind on them.

MAY GET THEIR MAIL

HOLDERS OF LOCK BOXES TO BE SERVED, SAYS TELEGRAM.

TO RELIEVE CONGESTION

Postmaster General Working on Plan to Make Possible Distribution of Double Mail on Monday.

During the closing hours of congress Representative Jim Mann, the Republican floor leader, slipped an innocent looking amendment into the appropriation bill covering postoffice work that is causing postmasters and their forces generally to do lots of hard figuring.

The amendment provided that in first and second class postoffices no mail shall hereafter be delivered between midnight Saturday night and midnight Sunday night, except special delivery matter. Unless your newspaper or your letter bears a special delivery stamp it must remain in the postoffice until Monday.

At first glance the provision seems very good. It gives the employees a full day to rest and enforces a strict observance of the Sabbath. But the practical workings of the new rule do not appeal to a great many patrons nor to a great many employees, especially the carriers.

It not only compels the patron of the office to wait until Monday for his letters and to go to the news stand for his paper, all of which can generally be done without great inconvenience, but it also makes it necessary for the employees of the office to handle two days' mail on Monday.

It provides for seven days' work to be done in six without reducing the volume of work any. Under the arrangement that has obtained for the past year the postoffice has been open for a short time Sunday, during which patrons could call and take out their mail, and those who have boxes could relieve them, but under the present order all this will be shut off.

It will make no particular difference with the employees of the Maryville office. A man must be kept on duty to attend to the forwarding and receiving of mail from the trains and he will "throw" the local mail between times.

In the large cities where the mail is very heavy it is causing considerable planning to meet the changed conditions without crippling the service. As the regular force cannot handle two days' mail and get it out in the usual time Monday morning it has been suggested that a double force be put on at midnight Sunday night, but there is no double force of eligibles present anywhere. Postal employees cannot be called in off the street at random and put to work. The postmaster general seems to be about to vacate a part of his order in reference to keeping the boxes closed, as will be seen from the following dispatch from Washington in a morning paper Wednesday:

Plans were perfected by Postmaster General Hitchcock today whereby the administration of the new law prohibiting the delivery of mail on Sundays will have no serious effect upon the handling of important mail matter.

Holders of lock boxes at first and second class postoffices will have access to them as usual, although no mail deliveries will be made by carriers on the street or at postoffice windows. Mail for hotel guests and newspapers will be delivered to them through their lock boxes by a simple arrangement of having that mail sorted on the railway mail cars before it reaches its destination. Such mail will be regarded as "transit matter" and will be distributed immediately upon its arrival at the offices of destination, thus practically insuring a speedier delivery to the addressees than heretofore has been the case.

This distribution will require a minimum of Sunday work and the distribution of other mail received on Sunday will be made after midnight of Sunday, so that it may be delivered by the carriers on their first tour on Monday.

After all day conferences with the experts of his department Postmaster General Hitchcock tonight issued a statement explanatory of his administration of the new law. His assurance is that there will be no embarrassment to the business public and that through the arrangements he outlines urgent mail matters will reach its destination promptly. Orders necessary to carry Mr. Hitchcock's plans into effect will be issued immediately.

CONCLAVE MONDAY

ODD FELLOWS TO HOLD FOURTH ANNUAL MEETING HERE.

BIG TORCH LIGHT PARADE

5,000 Visitors Are Expected and Speakers Will Include J. F. Bryant, J. W. Wilkerson, Gov. Dockery.

Arrangements are being made by members of White Cloud lodge of Odd Fellows for a big time next Monday, when the fourth annual convocation of the district, composed of Atchison, Holt, Gentry and Nodaway counties, takes place. The committees having the entertainment of the visitors in charge are working hard and a large crowd is expected.

In addition to the large number of visiting Odd Fellows there will be many Rebekahs also. The committees, from the reports already received, expect an attendance of five thousand or more, including a number of prominent speakers and some excellent degree teams.

The program is not yet fully made up, but it will include the following: During the morning it will open with a band concert, an address of welcome will be delivered by George Pat Wright, and this will be followed by a response on behalf of the visitors by John F. Bryant, past grand master.

After the dinner hour there will be addresses by Grand Secretary J. W. Wilkerson of St. Louis and Hon. A. M. Dockery of Gallatin, president of the Odd Fellows' Home. There will be another band concert and several free street attractions during the day.

At night there will be a grand torchlight parade in which all Odd Fellows will take part. At the lodge room there will be floor work for members of the order, and two degrees will be conferred, one initiatory and one first degree. Several good degree teams are expected, but it has not been decided yet which ones will put on the work.

The committee is anxious to furnish an abundance of entertainment, and would still be glad to hear from any attractions desiring concessions, so we are informed by Chester Bennett of the entertainment committee.

This will be the first time the convocation has been held in Maryville, and it will prove an interesting event. All Odd Fellows are urged to come and take part in the enjoyments of the day and meet their brothers from all over the district.

Miss Emma Lee Taylor was the honor guest of another social affair Tuesday afternoon, when the Shakespearean department of the Twentieth Century club entertained delightfully for her at the home of Mrs. Edward G. Orear, on account of her approaching marriage, which occurs September 2. The hostess took so much interest in the event that her effort made the afternoon far more enjoyable than the club women had anticipated. The rooms were very pretty in their floral decorations of cosmos, pink and white, the colors chosen by the bride-elect. On the arrival of the guests each one was presented a dust cloth to hem for the bride, and while engaged in this work a musical program of piano and voice numbers was given by Mrs. D. J. Thomas and her sister, Miss Mary Shaaber. Some of the guests worked their initials on the dust cloths they hemmed and others put in fancy stitches. Mrs. Thomas, Miss Shaaber and Mrs. Frank Shoemaker served punch to the company at intervals in the program. After the hemming was done the hostess presented each one a booklet containing the initials of the bride-elect done in gold, in which was to be written the names of well known books suggested by sixty pictures that were hung about the rooms. Mrs. D. J. Thomas won the prize in this contest. Mrs. Curtis of Tarkio being a close second, and each was presented a box of correspondence cards. The honor guest was also presented a box of stationery by the hostess. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, when Mrs. Anderson Craig in a beautiful speech, presented Miss Taylor a set of solid silver spoons on behalf of the club, which was nicely responded to by her. The guests beside the Shakespearean club women were Mrs. H. K. Taylor, mother of the honor guest; her sister, Mrs. Victor J. Moore, and Mrs. Taylor's sister, Mrs. Lee S. Bowden of Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Curtis H. Coe of Tarkio, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Craig; Mrs. George C. Toel, the guest of her sister, Mrs. O. C. Hanna; Mrs. J. B. Thomas of LaHarpe, Kan., the guest of her niece, Mrs. G. B. Holmes; Mrs. Harry Irwin, Mrs. Horace F. Leet, Miss Della Grems and Miss Jessie Parcher, president of the Twentieth Century club.

FACTS SUPPRESSED AND ISSUES EVADED BY TAFT TARIFF BOARD

By ROBERT KENNETH MACLEA,

Formerly Consulting Expert of the Tariff Board.

Under the pressure of promise to fight chicanery and fraud in tariff legislation, I deem it a public duty not to withhold the facts in my possession relative to the investigation of the cotton manufacturing industry. Regretful that my experience with the board warrants such conclusions, I am compelled to present the following indictment:

SUPPRESSION

I. That the tariff board, in its report on manufactures of cotton (Schedule D) has suppressed findings of vital importance to the cotton industry, to the public and to the government, but inimical to the special privileges of a few New England manufacturers who were permitted by Senator Aldrich to write the cotton schedule to suit themselves.

PERVERSION

II. That the tariff board has perverted other facts, thereby avoiding exposure of tariff injustices that have benefited the few at the expense of the many manufacturers.

EVASION

III. That the tariff board has not, as stated by President Taft to congress, drawn any conclusions that would "be valuable in advising the congress and the people . . . of the changes that ought to be made to make more equitable their (the wool and cotton schedules) effects." The board did not attempt to draw conclusions, "scientific" or otherwise, from its "scientifically" collected data, but side-stepped that responsibility by arguing that such deductions as its data justified were not called for under the specifications of its employment.

EMASCULATION

IV. That the tariff board's report was arranged so as to be incomprehensible to either legislators or laymen; that tables were deliberately disassociated or emasculated if not suppressed, and that a congressman would require the services of a statistician and a clerk six months to make head or tail of the jumble of data presented as a basis for intelligent tariff revision.

FAVORITISM

V. That the tariff board avoided altogether investigating certain phases of tariff graft hidden in "jokers" of the Payne-Aldrich law.

VI. That the tariff board falsely reported that it was impossible to obtain abroad

cost data on weaving necessary to enable it to make an intelligent comparison with costs at home; that the board was offered opportunities for obtaining such data, but did not use them; that such foreign data as were obtained were in some cases suppressed and in others were inadequate for honest comparison, although so utilized.

UNFAIR

VII. That the tariff board betrayed the confidence of American manufacturers by publishing data that should have been held for confidential information of legislators; that competitors were given thereby valuable trade secrets, while the foreign manufacturers divulged nothing of similar character or importance.

DISINGENUOUS

VIII. That the tariff board's treatment of economic questions vitally affecting the relation of the tariff to the prices exacted from consumers was disingenuous and misleading.

PARTISAN

IX. That the tariff board has proved not to be the "nonpartisan" and scientific instrument promised by President Taft; that its members displayed inexperience in business, incompetence and extravagance. I have been forced reluctantly after a year's intimate association to accept the opinion that the tariff board has been nothing more than an effective cog in a "standpat" political machine; that some of the men who clamored most loudly for a tariff board and some of the men appointed thereto worked all the time complacently in the knowledge that the creation of the board was a scheme to prevent genuine tariff reform as long as possible by "gumming the cards and delaying the game," a charge frequently made, but which I for a long time discredited.

CONVICTING

X. That such facts as the tariff board has reported sustain the charge, as to both the wool and the cotton schedules, that the consumer has been robbed outrageously as a consequence of excessive duties and that the profits have not gone into the pockets of the laborer to "maintain an American standard of living."

NEWS OF SOCIETY AND WOMEN'S CLUBS

For St. Joseph Guest.

Mrs. O. C. Hanna entertained Wednesday afternoon for her sister, Mrs. George Toel of St. Joseph.

For Dinner Guest.

Miss Lora Stockton will entertain Wednesday evening, complimentary to her guest, Mr. Harvey Meacham, a young newspaper man of Denver, Col. who is connected with the Denver Times.

Welcomed the Sisters.

Twenty-four women of St. Mary's parish were at the parish school building and home of the Sisters in charge Tuesday noon to welcome the teachers on their return from Atchison, Kan., where they have been at Mt. St. Scholastica convent during vacation. The living rooms and schools had been thoroughly cleaned and made ready, and to crown it all a veritable banquet was spread and ready for the entire company. The table for the Sisters was centered with a large white cake, surrounded by pink roses and containing the word "Welcome." A fine afternoon was spent socially and the Sisters are making ready for the opening of school the 9th of September with light hearts after such a royal welcome from the parishioners and the pastor, Rev. Father Anselm, who was the guest of honor. The Sisters received about fifty jars of fruit and other gifts for their larder which they appreciate very much.

A $400 FIRE LOSS.

Glenn Swinford's Barn at Bedison Burned Wednesday Morning—Cause Unknown.

Fire completely destroyed the barn of Glenn Swinford, on his farm, four miles from Bedison, Wednesday morning about 7 o'clock. The fire started in the hay mow, but its origin is unknown. One hundred bushels of corn, six tons of hay, some tools and machinery were burned. The loss is estimated at $400. Mr. Swinford had $300 insurance on the building.

Back From Trip.

Circuit Clerk Eugene Rathbun and family returned Tuesday night from a trip to Kansas City and Knobnoster, Mo., in Mr. Rathbun's automobile. The trip covered about five hundred miles, which was made without accident and in good time. The trip home was made in thirteen hours. Mr. Rathbun says he brought home no elephant hides or lion heads and saw no big game except a few bull moose.

FAIR TRIAL WAS IMPOSSIBLE

During the Days of Witchcraft Unfortunates Were Brought Into Court to Be Condemned.

When the witchcraft delusion of 1692 seized the province the people would not wait for the workings of the established tribunal of justice. It was too slow to suit them. No doubt they feared that it would be "reactionary" or inclined to be too respectful to the letter of the law. So they cried out for a special court to hustle along the trial of the witches, and Governor Phipps meekly yielded to the clamor and named seven judges to conduct the trials.

It was distinctly a popular court, and was controlled absolutely by the popular will. Not a one of the seven judges was a lawyer. Two of the judges were clergymen, two were physicians and three were merchants. The common law was thrown aside, rules of evidence were ignored, and the judges and juries were left untrammelled by any "quibbles of the law" to follow their own feelings and the popular will.

Says Washburn in his "Judicial History of Massachusetts": "The trials were but a form of executing popular vengeance. Juries were intimidated by the frowns and persuasions of the court and by the outbursts of the multitude that crowded the place of trial to render verdicts against their own consciences and judgment." He cites one case, that of Rebecca Nurse, in which the jury actually had the courage to bring in a verdict of not guilty. Whereupon "the accusers raised a great outcry and the judges were overcome by the clamor." The jury was sent back, returned with a verdict of guilty, and the woman was accordingly executed. Thus promptly and effectively did the popular will succeed in bringing about the judicial decision it wanted.—Boston Herald.

NOT A COMPLETE SUCCESS

Workings of Brother Bogus' Conscience Evidently Were Merely in the First Threes.

"Ever since I was done converted last week," remarked a certain colored citizen in a chastenedly triumphant tone, "muh conscience gnaws me when I thinks o' what a sinner I was befo' I seed the blessed light. I was false to de Lawd and untrue to muh feller men, and muh conscience gnaws—"

"Do it gnaw yo' enough, Brudder Bogus," grimly interrupted old Brother Gumpshun, "to make yo' pay me back dem fou dollahs yo' borried off'n me yesh befo' last?"

"W'y—w'y, sah!—yo' knows how clost de times is, dese days, and—well, sah, here's haffer dollar, dat I'll pay yo' now, and—"

"Hub! If dat's de best yo' kin do, sah, yo' conscience ain't gnawin'—it's dese uh-nibblin'!"—Satire.

How to See Colorado and the Yellowstone

By all means plan your summer vacation to include Colorado. A week of that glorious air will do you good for a lifetime. And that wonderful sky! Even Italy cannot match it for clear, deep, turquoise beauty. Then the mountains—they tower above you everywhere seeming to raise your spirit with them into the cool and restful cloudland. It's a new experience.

But you must also see the Yellowstone to complete your vacation. And it's easy if you take advantage of the reduced fare rates offered to summer tourists. Your ticket will take you through Colorado, the Regal Rockies and on to Salt Lake City and then swing you northward to the wonderful Yellowstone country. Neither pictures nor words can give you an idea of the beauty of the geysers, mud volcanoes, brilliantly colored rocks, mysterious rivers, thundering waterfalls, precipices, chasms, canons and the million-year old mountains you will see there. Your trip will give you a fresh enthusiasm.

The trip out and back is part of the fun, if you go on one of the Burlington's luxurious limiteds. It does not cost any more to go that way and there isn't any good reason why you shouldn't have the best there is.

I am employed by the Burlington Route to answer all your questions. I'll tell you the cost, the best places to see, send you our handsome folders, and even arrange to reserve a Pullman berth, if desired, if you'll tell me about when you would like to go. When you write me, a postal will do. W. E. Goforth, ticket agent, Burlington Route.

P. S.—The date of the Pike's Peak Region annual "Shan Kive" and Summer Carnival has been set as Aug. 27, 28 and 29. It will be held at Colorado Springs—Manitou, and will be larger and grander than ever. You ought to arrange to be there at that time, if possible.

Also for the further purpose of nominating a full Progressive ticket for the offices of representative, sheriff, treasurer, prosecuting attorney, judge of the north district, judge of the south district, surveyor and coroner, all of said offices to be filled at the election this coming November.

The county convention herein called will also take such steps as may be deemed best looking to the completion of a Progressive party organization in Nodaway county.

This county convention will be a mass convention, and every voter of the county who is a member of the Progressive party will be entitled to be present and participate.

The downstairs or main floor of the theater will be reserved for the members of the party, and no person will be admitted to said floor until he has delivered to the doorkeeper a ticket in the form which will be prepared and furnished by the county committee, and which ticket must be signed by the party desiring admission, and also state his residence, that he is a voter in Nodaway county, a member of the Progressive party, and that he will support at the polls in November the Progressive ticket, national, state and county. Blank tickets may be secured of the committee on the day of the convention. The gallery of the theater will be open to the public, unless it should be necessary to clear it to make room for members of the party.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF.

Which is Better—Try an Experiment or Profit by a Maryville Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment. Must be proved to be as represented. The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit. But the endorsement of friends is. Now supposing you had a bad back, A Lame, Weak or Aching one. Would you experiment on it? You will read of many so-called cures.

Endorsed by strangers from far-away places. It's different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony. Home endorsement is the proof that backs every box of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Read this case: A. W. Hawkins, 42 W. Ninth St. Maryville, Mo., says: "Some four years ago I had a weak, sore and aching back and I used Doan's Kidney Pills. STILL A DAY OF REJOICING

Frenchmen Never Forget to Celebrate the Anniversary of the Fall of the Bastille.

The anniversary of the destruction of the Bastille, that grim old fortress identified with royal despotism and cruelty, which took place July 14, 1789, was enthusiastically celebrated throughout France. When the Bastille was stormed and its defenders beaten, the victors expected to release a large number of prisoners, but under the gentle rule of Louis XVI. the old prison was all but empty. The vaults restored to light only seven prisoners.

"Three of these," says Lamartine, "gray-haired men, were shut up legitimately and had been from family motives withdrawn from the judgments of the ordinary courts of law. Tavernier and Withe, two of them, had become insane. The third was the Count de Solages, 32 years before sent to this prison at his father's request. Whether he had been guilty of some crime or was the victim of oppression was an inexplicable enigma. The other four prisoners had been confined only four years. They were arrested in Holland on the requisition of the bankers they had defrauded. These seven prisoners of the Bastille released, carelessly, even crowned with laurels, carried in triumph by their liberators like living spoils snatched from the hands of tyranny, were paraded about the streets and their sufferings avenged by the people's shouts and tears. The intoxication of the victors broke out against the very stones of the place and the embrasures torn from the towers were soon hurled with indignation into the ditches."

The site of the Bastille is now marked by a lofty column of bronze dedicated to the memory of the patriots of July, 1789, and 1830.

THOMAS MOTT OSBORNE,

"Governor Wilson's speech fits the occasion and the man; progressive but not wild; sane, strong and unmistakably Democratic. It makes an inspiring opening of the campaign, indicating clearly and nobly the spirit in which the leaders of our regenerated Democratic party must work; not one of mere 'partisan make-believe,' but of honesty and justice toward all men."

BUILT IN THE ROCKS

HOUSES AT AMALFI CLING LIKE VINES TO SIDE OF MOUNTAIN.

A STREET OF STONE STEPS

It Would Be an Ideal Place for an American Crook to Make Escape—A Boat Ride in Blue Grotto.

Kaiser's Pension Aurora, Florence, Italy, July 31.—Have indeed tried, but simply couldn't get started on a letter sooner. Mr. Watson has let us all off for a rest this afternoon. We have a few hours, then will take one of the carriage rides around the city.

I think I left my narrative at Amalfi, the convent hotel. The night we were there a crowd of us went down to the little fishing village to the religious carnival. They had fine lights and an excellent band, and everybody applauded the classic selections. These Italian crowds insist on encores. It was the quaintest place I have seen in this country, the town built in this crevice with houses many stories high or perched on the rocks, and streets like little tunnels, mostly steps, scrambling through them. The market place was down two stories below the driving road and there were other lower streets. If good and lively American crooks had such a place they never could be caught.

Most picturesque barefoot peasants sat on the town hall steps till almost midnight listening to the band play Greig and other like music. The rugged hill tops back from the sea had monasteries on top of each, and from the little valley of the town Amalfi (not one just described above) houses clung to the whole mountain side and were reached by a street of solid steps. We didn't go up that one.

The village Amalfi at the foot of our hotel also had tunnel streets with many steps, black as pitch at night and dim even at noonday with houses built solidly across the top. One real central street led through the town and these bored into the walls from it.

We started the next morning at 6 and had a fine ride to Sorrento, along the sea as before. Sorrento is a great silk manufacturing town. We stayed at a very fine hotel, beautiful parlors and dining room, like an art gallery for height and whiteness of walls. They used bamboo in tubs just as we have palms. It is so feathery and pretty we all decided to cultivate it at home.

Our hotel pergola and gardens were lovely also. Many fine villas were safely stowed away behind high stone walls on either side the streets, so nothing but trees were visible. This gave the residence streets the effect of topless tunnels and was rather uninteresting.

We left next day for Isle of Capri and blue grotto. The boat onto which our small boats launched us was not large, and as the sea was a little rough we felt peculiar soon, and after the trip into the grotto most of the party reclined on deck or over rail.

We sailed up the rocky side of the Isle and paused in a multitude of small boats before a tiny black hole in the rocks at the water's edge. I said, "Excuse me. I will never risk getting in and out of that rat hole." But the rolling of the big boat worried me, so I decided to take a ride in the small skiffs. We went in twos, in rather large row boats, with one oarsman to each boat, and covered the surface of the sea with our numbers. The swell was quite heavy and wind considerable—apparently a foolish attempt, as they had not been able to get in for three days. But the fates are kind to some foolish ones and have favored this party all the time, so we rowed up to the hole, where a strong chain stretched through, fastened firmly at each end on the rocks. The occupants of the boat lay down flat. You wait till the swell takes you up, then recedes and leaves the opening at its largest dimensions, the boatman grasps the chain and pulls the boat through. The waves dash happily over you, leaving you wet and uncomfortable but greatly pleased with your own courage.

The blue grotto is quite a large cave, which has a floor of electric blue sea. The reflections on the roof near the opening are very pretty, and the blackness of the oars or anything under the surface accentuates the color, while the foam made by striking on the surface is lovely light blue diamonds. We got out by the same process we used entering, and were held up on high seas for the fee before they would take us to our ship. We didn't have money enough, so had quite a little sail around until we could get Mr. Watson, the secretary and manager of our party. Returning on board, everybody whoever indulges in that luxury got sick. I had a small attack myself. We returned to Capri and were attacked by a mob of peasant women trying to sell us corals cheap. I bought a ten-cent string in self-defense, then dangled it at everyone who came after. We went up a high mountain by cog to a little village and a nice hotel, where an excellent lunch in the pergola awaited us. A talented young boy and father played mandolin and guitar for our entertainment, so we soon forgot our ills, and the boat trip on to Naples was calm and beautiful. Everybody came away decorated with corals. It is too funny. After each place the whole crowd wears decorations. From Rome all brought Roman pearl beads.

We began meeting American parties as soon as we entered Italy, some of them larger than ours. Here at Florence the principal language of the art galleries and other sights is American. There are nine young Cornell men, architects, at this pension, under management of the university traveling department. There are seventy-two in the city under that management and lectures are given by different professors on their particular subject. It must be very educational, but a little tiresome also, I should judge.

I met a Delta Gamma at the art gallery this morning who is from Northwestern university at Evanston, but is at Illinois university this year. She was back at initiation and met Ruth Montgomery. A delightful girl is at another hotel and going south tomorrow. Have also seen some D. A. R.'s, but generally when I didn't have my pin on.

MAY GET THEIR MAIL

HOLDERS OF LOCK BOXES TO BE SERVED, SAYS TELEGRAM.

TO RELIEVE CONGESTION

Postmaster General Working on Plan to Make Possible Distribution of Double Mail on Monday.

During the closing hours of congress Representative Jim Mann, the Republican floor leader, slipped an innocent looking amendment into the appropriation bill covering postoffice work that is causing postmasters and their forces generally to do lots of hard figuring.

The amendment provided that in first and second class postoffices no mail shall hereafter be delivered between midnight Saturday night and midnight Sunday night, except special delivery matter. Unless your newspaper or your letter bears a special delivery stamp it must remain in the postoffice until Monday.

At first glance the provision seems very good. It gives the employees a full day to rest and enforces a strict observance of the Sabbath. But the practical workings of the new rule do not appeal to a great many patrons nor to a great many employees, especially the carriers.

It not only compels the patron of the office to wait until Monday for his letters and to go to the news stand for his paper, all of which can generally be done without great inconvenience, but it also makes it necessary for the employees of the office to handle two days' mail on Monday. It provides for seven days' work to be done in six without reducing the volume of work any. Under the arrangement that has obtained for the past year the postoffice has been open for a short time Sunday, during which patrons could call and take out their mail, and those who have boxes could relieve them, but under the present order all this will be shut off.

It will make no particular difference between the employees of the Maryville office. A man must be kept on duty to attend to the forwarding and receiving of mail from the trains and he will "throw" the local mail between times.

In the large cities where the mail is very heavy it is causing considerable planning to meet the changed conditions without crippling the service. As the regular force cannot handle two days' mail and get it out in the usual time Monday morning it has been suggested that a double force be put on at midnight Sunday night, but there is no double force of eligibles present anywhere. Postal employees cannot be called in off the street at random and put to work. The postmaster general seems to be about to vacate a part of his order in reference to keeping the boxes closed, as will be seen from the following dispatch from Washington in a morning paper Wednesday:

Plans were perfected by Postmaster General Hitchcock today whereby the administration of the new law prohibiting the delivery of mail on Sundays will have no serious effect upon the handling of important mail matter.

Holders of lock boxes at first and second class postoffices will have access to them as usual, although no mail deliveries will be made by carriers on the street or at postoffice windows. Mail for hotel guests and newspapers will be delivered to them through their lock boxes by a simple arrangement of having that mail sorted on the railway mail cars before it reaches its destination. Such mail will be regarded as "transit matter" and will be distributed immediately upon its arrival at the offices of destination, thus practically insuring a speedier delivery to the addressee than heretofore has been the case.

This distribution will require a minimum of Sunday work and the distribution of other mail received on Sunday will be made after midnight of Sunday, so that it may be delivered by the carriers on their first tour on Monday.

After all day conferences with the experts of his department Postmaster General Hitchcock tonight issued a statement explanatory of his administration of the new law. His assurance is that there will be no embarrassment to the business public and that through the arrangements he outlines urgent mail matters will reach its destination promptly. Orders necessary to carry Mr. Hitchcock's plans into effect will be issued immediately.

Attend the Maryville Business College. It prepares for life. Opens Sept. 3.

CONCLAVE MONDAY

ODD FELLOWS TO HOLD FOURTH ANNUAL MEETING HERE.

5,000 Visitors Are Expected and Speakers Will Include J. F. Bryant, J. W. Wilkerson, Gov. Dockery.

Arrangements are being made by members of White Cloud lodge of Odd Fellows for a big time next Monday, when the fourth annual conclave of the district, composed of Atchison, Holt, Gentry and Nodaway counties, takes place. The committees having the entertainment of the visitors in charge are working hard and a large crowd is expected.

In addition to the large number of visiting Odd Fellows there will be many Rebekahs also. The committees, from the reports already received, expect an attendance of five thousand or more, including a number of prominent speakers and some excellent degree teams.

The program is not yet fully made up, but it will include the following: During the morning it will open with a band concert, an address of welcome will be delivered by George Pat Wright, and this will be followed by a response on behalf of the visitors by John F. Bryant, past grand master.

After the dinner hour there will be addresses by Grand Secretary J. W. Wilkerson of St. Louis and Hon. A. M. Dockery of Gallatin, president of the Odd Fellows' Home. There will be another band concert and several free street attractions during the day.

At night there will be a grand torchlight parade in which all Odd Fellows will take part. At the lodge room there will be floor work for members of the order, and two degrees will be conferred, one initiatory and one first degree. Several good degree teams are expected, but it has not been decided yet which ones will put on the work.

The committee is anxious to furnish an abundance of entertainment, and would still be glad to hear from any attractions desiring concessions, so we are informed by Chester Bennett of the entertainment committee.

This will be the first time the conclave has been held in Maryville, and it will prove an interesting event. All Odd Fellows are urged to come and take part in the enjoyments of the day and meet their brothers from all over the district.

On an Extended Visit.

Mrs. Claude C. Whitehurst and children from Glen Flora, Texas, passed through Maryville Sunday en route to Hopkins to visit Mrs. Whitehurst's aunt, Mrs. J. Arch McMaster. She will go from there to Bolckow to visit her uncle F. P. Montgomery, and aunt, Mrs. Perry Messick, and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Whitehurst left the south in June, coming to Sedalia, where she spent one month visiting her stepmother and family, Mrs. A. C. Moodie, formerly of Graham, Mo. She has since been visiting at the home of J. A. Whitehurst, near Clyde. Mr. Whitehurst contemplates joining his family some time this fall and they will remain until about December 1st, before returning to Texas.

Miss Melvin to Walla Walla.

Miss Ruby Melvin will leave Thursday morning for Walla Walla, Wash., where she will teach in the public schools the coming year. Miss Melvin and Miss Ruby Lorraine returned this week from their trip to Detroit, Niagara Falls, Montreal, New York, Washington, D. C.; Baltimore, Philadelphia and other cities of the north and east, making much of the journey by water.

Took an Appeal.

The suit of William E. Allen vs. Horace Jones, has been appealed from the justice court to the circuit court. It is a suit on account.

Miss Helen Dunn of Bolckow spent Tuesday in Maryville visiting friends and relatives.

FACTS SUPPRESSED AND ISSUES EVADED BY TAFT TARIFF BOARD

By ROBERT KENNETH MACLEA,

Formerly Consulting Expert of the Tariff Board.

Under the pressure of promise to fight chicanery and fraud in tariff legislation, I deem it a public duty not to withhold the facts in my possession relative to the investigation of the cotton manufacturing industry. Regretful that my experience with the board warrants such conclusions, I am compelled to present the following indictment:

SUPPRESSION

I. That the tariff board, in its report on manufactures of cotton (Schedule D) has suppressed findings of vital importance to the cotton industry, to the public and to the government, but inimical to the special privileges of a few New England manufacturers who were permitted by Senator Aldrich to write the cotton schedule to suit themselves.

PERVERSION

II. That the tariff board has perverted other facts, thereby avoiding exposure of tariff injustices that have benefited the few at the expense of the many manufacturers.

EVASION

III. That the tariff board has not, as stated by President Taft to congress, drawn any conclusions that would "be valuable in advising the congress and the people" of the changes that ought to be made to make more equitable their (the wool and cotton schedules) effects. The board did not attempt to draw conclusions, "scientific" or otherwise, from its "scientifically" collected data, but side-stepped that responsibility by arguing that such deductions as its data justified were not called for under the specifications of its employment.

EMASCULATION

IV. That the tariff board's report was arranged so as to be incomprehensible to either legislators or laymen; that tables were deliberately distorted or emasculated if not suppressed, and that a congressman would require the services of a statistician and a clerk six months to make head or tail of the jumble of tariff revision.

FAVORITISM

V. That the tariff board avoided altogether investigating certain phases of tariff graft hidden in "jokers" of the Payne-Aldrich law.

cost data on weaving necessary to enable it to make an intelligent comparison with costs at home; that the board was offered opportunities for obtaining such data, but did not use them; that such foreign data as were obtained were in some cases suppressed and in others were inadequate for honest comparison, although so utilized.

UNFAIR

VII. That the tariff board betrayed the confidence of American manufacturers by publishing data that should have been held for confidential information of legislators; that competitors were given thereby valuable trade secrets, while the foreign manufacturers divulged nothing of similar character or importance.

DISINGENUOUS

VIII. That the tariff board's treatment of economic questions vitally affecting the relation of the tariff to the prices exacted from consumers was disingenuous and misleading.

PARTISAN

IX. That the tariff board has proved not to be the "nonpartisan" and scientific instrument promised by President Taft; that its members displayed inexperience in business, incompetence and extravagance. I have been forced reluctantly after a year's intimate association to accept the opinion that the tariff board has been nothing more than an effective cog in a "standpat" political machine; that some of the men who clamored most loudly for a tariff board and some of the men appointed thereto worked all the time complacently in the knowledge that the creation of the board was a scheme to prevent genuine tariff reform as long as possible by "gumming the cards and delaying the game," a charge frequently made, but which I for a long time discredited.

CONVICTING

X. That such facts as the tariff board has reported sustain the charge, as to both the wool and the cotton schedules, that the consumer has been robbed outrageously as a consequence of excessive duties and that the profits have not gone into the pockets of the laborer to "maintain an American standard of living."

NEWS OF SOCIETY AND WOMEN'S CLUBS

For St. Joseph Guest.

For Dinner Guest.

Miss Lora Stockton will entertain Wednesday evening, complimentary to her guest, Mr. Harvey Meacham, a young newspaper man of Denver, Colo. who is connected with the Denver Times.

Welcomed the Sisters.

Twenty-four women of St. Mary's parish were at the parish school building and home of the Sisters in charge Tuesday noon to welcome the teachers on their return from Aitchison, Kan., where they have been at Mt. St. Scholastica convent during vacation. The living rooms and schools had been thoroughly cleaned and made ready, and to crown it all a veritable banquet was spread and ready for the entire company. The table for the Sisters was centered with a large white cake, surrounded by pink roses and containing the word "Welcome." A fine afternoon was spent socially and the Sisters are making ready for the opening of school the 9th of September with light hearts after such a royal welcome from the parishioners and the pastor, Rev. Father Anselm, who was the guest of honor. The Sisters received about fifty jars of fruit and other gifts for their kinder which they appreciate very much.

A $400 FIRE LOSS.

Glenn Swinford's Barn at Bedison Burned Wednesday Morning—Cause Unknown.

Fire completely destroyed the barn of Glenn Swinford, on his farm, four miles from Bedison, Wednesday morning about 7 o'clock. The fire started in the hay mow, but its origin is unknown. One hundred bushels of corn, six tons of hay, some tools and machinery were burned. The loss is estimated at $400. Mr. Swinford had $300 insurance on the building.

Back From Trip.

Circuit Clerk Eugene Rathbun and family returned Tuesday night from a trip to Kansas City and Knobnoster, Mo., in Mr. Rathbun's automobile. The trip covered about five hundred miles, which was made without accident and in good time. The trip home was made in thirteen hours. Mr. Rathbun says he brought home no elephant hides or lion heads and saw no big game except a few bull moose.

FAIR TRIAL WAS IMPOSSIBLE

During the Days of Witchcraft Unfortunates Were Brought Into Court to Be Condemned.

When the witchcraft delusion of 1692 seized the province the people would not wait for the workings of the established tribunal of justice. It was too slow to suit them. No doubt they feared that it would be "reactionary" or inclined to be too respectful to the letter of the law. So they cried out for a special court to hustle along the trial of the witches, and Governor Phipps meekly yielded to the clamor and named seven judges to conduct the trials.

It was distinctly a popular court, and was controlled absolutely by the popular will. Not a one of the seven judges was a lawyer. Two of the judges were clergymen, two were physicians and three were merchants. The common law was thrown aside, rules of evidence were ignored, and the judges and juries were left untrammelled by any "quibbles of the law" to follow their own feelings and the popular will.

Says Washburn in his "Judicial History of Massachusetts": "The trials were but a form of executing popular vengeance. Juries were intimidated by the frowns and persuasions of the court and by the outbreaks of the multitude that crowded the place of trial to render verdicts against their own consciences and judgment." He cites one case, that of Rebecca Nurse, in which the jury actually had the courage to bring in a verdict of not guilty. Whereupon "the accusers raised a great outcry and the judges were overcome by the clamor." The jury was sent back, returned with a verdict of guilty, and the woman was accordingly executed. Thus promptly and effectively did the popular will succeed in bringing about the judicial decision it wanted.—Boston Herald.

NOT A COMPLETE SUCCESS

Workings of Brother Bogus' Conscience Evidently Were Merely in the First Threes.

"Ever since I was done converted last week," remarked a certain colored citizen in a chastenedly triumphant tone, "muh conscience gnaws me when I thinks o' what a sinner I was befo' I seed the blessed light. I was false to de Lawd and untrue to muh feller men, and muh conscience gnaws—"

"Do it gnaw yo' enough, Brudder Bogus," grimly interrupted old Brother Gumpshun, "to make yo' pay me back dem fou dollahs yo' borried off'n me yeah befo' last?"

"W'y—w'y, sah!—yo' knows how clost de times is, dese days, and—well, sah, here's haffer dollah, dat I'll pay yo' now, and—"

"Huh! If dat's de best yo' kin do, sah, yo' conscience ain't gnawin'—it's dese uh-nibblin'!"—Sattire.

How to See Colorado and the Yellowstone

By all means plan your summer vacation to include Colorado. A week of that glorious air will do you good for a lifetime. And that wonderful sky! Even Italy cannot match it for clear, deep, turquoise beauty. Then the mountains—they tower above you everywhere seeming to raise your spirit with them into the cool and restful cloudland. It's a new experience.

But you must also see the Yellowstone to complete your vacation. And it's easy if you take advantage of the reduced fare rates offered to summer tourists. Your ticket will take you through Colorado, the Regal Rockies and on to Salt Lake City and then swing you northward to the wonderful Yellowstone country. Neither pictures nor words can give you an idea of the beauty of the geysers, mud volcanoes, brilliantly colored rocks, mysterious rivers, thundering waterfalls, precipices, chasms, canons and the million-year old mountains you will see there. Your trip will give you a fresh enthusiasm.

The trip out and back is part of the fun, if you go on one of the Burlington's luxurious limiteds. It does not cost any more to go that way and there isn't any good reason why you shouldn't have the best there is.

I am employed by the Burlington Route to answer all your questions. I'll tell you the cost, the best places to see, send you our handsome folders, and even arrange to reserve a Pullman berth, if desired, if you'll tell me about when you would like to go. When you write me, a postal will do. W. E. Goforth, ticket agent, Burlington Route.

P. S.—The date of the Pike's Peak Region annual "Shan Kive" and Summer Carnival has been set as Aug. 27, 28 and 29. It will be held at Colorado Springs—Manitou, and will be larger and grander than ever. You ought to arrange to be there at that time, if possible.

Call for Progressive Party Convention.

To the Members of the Progressive Party in Nodaway County: Gentlemen—You are hereby requested to assemble in convention at the Empire theater in Maryville, Mo., on Saturday, August 31st, 1912, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of electing ten delegates and ten alternates from this county to attend the state convention of the Progressive party in St. Louis, Mo., on Sept. 2d, 1912, and represent Nodaway county in said convention.

Also for the further purpose of nominating a full Progressive ticket for the offices of representative, sheriff treasurer, prosecuting attorney, judge of the north district, judge of the south district, surveyor and coroner, all of said offices to be filled at the election this coming November.

The county convention herein called will also take such steps as may be deemed best looking to the completion of a Progressive party organization in Nodaway county.

This county convention will be a mass convention, and every voter of the county who is a member of the Progressive party will be entitled to be present and participate.

The downstairs or main floor of the theater will be reserved for the members of the party, and no person will be admitted to said floor until he has delivered to the doorkeeper a ticket in the form which will be prepared and furnished by the county committee, and which ticket must be signed by the party desiring admission, and also state his residence, that he is a voter in Nodaway county, a member of the Progressive party, and that he will support at the polls in November the Progressive ticket, national, state and county. Blank tickets may be secured of the committee on the day of the convention. The gallery of the theater will be open to the public, unless it should be necessary to clear it to make room for members of the party.

Witness our hands this 22d day of August, 1912, by order of the Nodaway county Progressive committee.

W. W. GLASS, Chairman.
F. P. ROBINSON, Secretary.

Leading Question.

She—If you could have only one wish what would it be?
He—It would be that—that—oh, if I only dared to tell you what it would be.

She—Well, go on. Why do you suppose I brought up the wishing subject?—Boston Transcript.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF.

Which is Better—Try an Experiment or Profit by a Maryville Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment. Must be proved to be as represented. The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit.

But the endorsement of friends is. Now supposing you had a bad back, A Lame, Weak or Aching one, Would you experiment on it? You will read of many so-called cures.

Endorsed by strangers from far-away places.

It's different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony.

Home endorsement is the proof that backs every box of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Read this case: A. W. Hawkins, 42 W. Ninth St. Maryville, Mo., says: "Some four years ago I had a weak, sore and aching back and I used Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy gave me so much relief that I have not been obliged to take a kidney medicine since. Doan's Kidney Pills have my highest endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

STILL A DAY OF REJOICING

Frenchmen Never Forget to Celebrate the Anniversary of the Fall of the Bastille.

The anniversary of the destruction of the Bastille, that grim old fortress identified with royal despotism and cruelty, which took place July 14, 1789, was enthusiastically celebrated throughout France. When the Bastille was stormed and its defenders beaten, the victors expected to release a large number of prisoners, but under the gentle rule of Louis XVI. the old prison was all but empty. The vaults restored to light only seven prisoners.

"Three of these," says Lamartine, "gray-haired men, were shut up legitimately and had been from family motives withdrawn from the judgments of the ordinary courts of law. Tavernier and Withe, two of them, had become insane. The third was the Count de Solages, 32 years before sent to this prison at his father's request. Whether he had been guilty of some crime or was the victim of oppression was an inexplicable enigma. The other four prisoners had been confined only four years. They were arrested in Holland on the requisition of the bankers they had defrauded. These seven prisoners of the Bastille released, caressed, even crowned with laurels, carried in triumph by their liberators like living spoils snatched from the hands of tyranny, were paraded about the streets and their sufferings avenged by the people's shouts and tears. The intoxication of the victors broke out against the very stones of the place and the embrasures torn from the towers were soon hurled with indignation into the ditches."

The site of the Bastille is now marked by a lofty column of bronze dedicated to the memory of the patriots of July, 1789, and 1830.

THOMAS MOTT OSBORNE,
AUBURN, N. Y.

"Governor Wilson's speech fits the occasion and the man; progressive but not wild; sane, strong and unmistakably Democratic. It makes an inspiring opening of the campaign, indicating clearly and nobly the spirit in which the leaders of our regenerated Democratic party must work; not one of mere 'partisan make-believe,' but of honesty and justice toward all men."
